Payroll Savings Buys Comfort For Your Fighting Relatives

Not all of your payroll savings and other War Bond purchases are used for tanks, planes and gunpowder. A part of your investment goes for the comfort of your father, brother, son or friend.

Put your war bond buying through your payroll savings plan on a family basis to do the most effective job in providing for the care and safety of your men in the armed forces. Figure it out for yourself how much more than 10 per cent of the aggregate income of your family you can put into war bonds above the cost of the necessities of life.

Remember a single $18.75 war bond will buy for a fighting soldier on the front: Two cotton undershirts at 44 cents; two pairs of cotton shorts at 76 cents; two pairs of cotton socks at 34 cents; one pair of shoes at $4.31; a cotton khaki shirt at $4.64; pair twill trousers at $4.16; one web waist belt at 23 cents; two cotton neckties at 44 cents; 2 khaki caps at $1.39 and one twill jacket at $3.16. Total $18.71.

An $18.75 war bond should make a mighty comfortable for the night with a 72-pound cotton mattress at $1.23; two blankets at $12.54; a pillow at 56 cents and two pillow cases at 30 cents. Total $18.00.

Or he could be provided with a rubber poncho at $4.77; a helmet with its lining and other items of its assembly at $5.67; a rifle cartridge belt at $3.15; a marine corps pack consisting of haversack, knapsack and suspenders at $3.10; a canteen and its cover at $1.05. Total $18.07.

Those of you who worry about the comfort of your boy in service can help insure his comfort by buying war bonds. And 10 years from now you'll take back $25 for every $18.75 you put in.

SET ASIDE BEEF ORDER NECESSARY

Because Government purchasing agencies have been unable to acquire adequate supplies of beef to meet urgent requirements, all livestock slaughterers operating under Federal inspection are required, effective June 14, to set aside 45 per cent of all the steer and heifer beef they produce which meets Army specifications, the War Food Administration advised.

The order applies to weekly production of beef and does not apply to inventories.

He's going on a mighty important trip!

. . . So are millions of other young Americans . . . going on trips that will mean the difference between freedom and slavery for us here at home.

From the moment they join the ranks of Uncle Sam's fighting forces they are dependent upon the American railroads for transportation. They must travel from induction and enlistment centers to reception centers, to camps for basic and advanced training, to replacement centers, and finally to ports of embarkation. They are moved an average of eight times between induction and embarkation.

Every month more than two million American fighting men must travel by train in organized troop movements — movements that require one-half of the nation's Pullman cars and nearly 30 per cent of all coaches. Another two million will travel on furlough — four million men that the railroads must move every month, plus additional millions of civilians traveling on essential war work.

In all, the railroads today are carrying nearly four times the passenger traffic of 1939.

The vital job of moving our tremendously increased armed forces is up to the American railroads . . . and to you. For you alone can decide whether to travel this summer. When making up your mind, keep your eyes fixed on the fighting fronts, and keep your thoughts on the vital transportation needs of our fighting men.

If you must travel, you may have to put up with unavoidable war-time inconveniences; trains may be off schedule; you may not get the accommodations you want — you may not even get a seat; you may have to stand in line to get into a dining car — they are often crowded.

In spite of all these difficulties, the Norfolk and Western, and the other railroads of the country, are doing their level best to give you the best possible service. Remember this, your cheerful cooperation will go a long way toward helping America and the railroads keep our fighting men and their fighting equipment on the road to Victory.

WHAT You CAN DO TO HELP
Make travel decisions and reservations as far in advance as possible • Accept cheerfully, available accommodations • Buy round-trip tickets well in advance • Cancel reservations promptly when plans change • Avoid week-end travel • Be considerate in the use of train facilities and — travel light.

Philadelphia Lawyer Is Quick-Change Artist

PHILADELPHIA.—Maj. J. Harry La Brum, Philadelphia lawyer, did a quick-change act in U. S. district court.

The army ruled he could reargue a case he handled in private life, but he had to appear in civilian clothes after wearing his uniform until opening of court.

So he brought the civvies in a traveling bag, changed in the office of the federal court clerk, appeared in court, changed back to uniform for lunch, back to civvies to continue the argument and back to uniform as court adjourned.

Lifeboats Dropped With Parachutes

LONDON. — Lifeboats dropped by parachute from planes are used now to save Allied airmen forced into the sea.

Each lifeboat can hold 11 men and is self-contained. It has twin screws, fuel for at least 100 miles travel at five to six knots and carries a sail to augment the motors. Supplies of food are stowed in lockers.

Figure It Out Yourself. How can you effectively join in saving all the little children of the world from human slavery, death and injury from the Nazis and Japanese? Put more and more of your pay into war bonds every payday. Your savings will go to war in the form of war equipment and other munitions. How much more should you put into war bonds? The only ones who can answer that are—you and your family. It's up to you to decide just how much more you'll do to win the war.

If you were fighting in the Solomons or in Africa or forcing a landing in Europe you'd like to feel that the folks at home were back of you—all the way—you'd be proud of your family and your friends if you knew they were buying war bonds not at 10 per cent or 15 per cent but with every cent beyond that which they need for necessities.

Arabs' Dinner Etiquette Baffling to Americans

LARAMIE, WYO. — Richard M. Savarey, formerly of Laramie and now an intelligence officer in the army, wrote his family recently describing an Arabian meal in North Africa.

He said all the guests sat on pillows around a foot-high table. A servant poured water over one hand —the right one only—to cleanse it, as it is most used in eating. Savarey said he and his companions almost starved because the Arabs eat a chicken, which was the main course, with the right hand only, tearing it apart. The Americans found this difficult.

Savarey said the custom then is to wipe the grease from your right hand on the bread and eat the bread.

750,000 Persons Over 60 Now Working in Britain

LONDON.—By way of backing up his recurrent assertion that this country has organized, mobilized and utilized manpower to a greater extent than any other, Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, disclosed that nearly 750,000 men over 65 years of age and women over 60 had gone to work, while 90 per cent of the single women of draft age are in the services, munitions plants or other work of national importance.
